

Thou lovest righteousness, and hatest wickedness: therefore God, thy God, hath anointed thee with the oil of gladness above thy fellows. (Psalms 45:7)

There is a marvelous principle indeed! The Man of Sorrows is now the most glad and joyful man in existence. Why? Because He loves righteousness perfectly and hates evil with a perfect hatred.

It is certainly true that our joy and peace and gladness is directly proportional to our love of right and hate of wrong. And we shall discover when our joy is gone that we have in some measure begun to hate righteousness and love wickedness.

That is why the world is full of anger, hate, unrest, fighting, misery, and despair. It hates righteousness and loves wickedness. "Gays" are everything but gay. "Sads" would be a better name. I never saw one who wasn't angry and miserable. So are feminists, liberals, and infidel intellectuals. They have no joy.

The constitution may guarantee the pursuit of happiness, but it will not be found. Only the Son of Righteousness can give it.
